Asamblea comunitaria y mesa redonda sobre la vivienda

Hood River es una de las comunidades menos asequibles de Oregón. Un bono de vivienda aprobado por los votantes permitirá a la ciudad invertir en tipos de vivienda necesarios que el mercado privado no está ofreciendo. La ciudad está explorando diversos modelos para utilizar los fondos de este bono, tales como viviendas de alquiler, cooperativas y fideicomisos de tierras.

Venga a conocer los diferentes modelos, hacer preguntas y compartir sus opiniones.
